Back to black on the red carpet and sexy swimwear

RIPPING UP THE RED CARPET &gt;&gt;

If there's only one colour you can rely on, it's that perennial favourite: black. Forgiving, flattering and a perfect canvas from which to layer up and accessorise. And if the recent Golden Globes were anything to go by – women can use it both to make a statement and look like the stars they are. Who didn't think that Margot Robbie looked a million dollars? Even if you're not going to this year's Oscars, you can still make your own small point...

&lt;&lt; SPANISH

This is the face of modern ethical luxury. For its beautiful, one-off bags, Reclaim Mallorca uses leather that is well worn, supple and buttery thanks to its former incarnation as tack for racehorses and polo ponies; fabric that is vintage Mallorcan and surplus cashmere from Italy. From €240. reclaimsl.com

WISH YOU WERE HERE

It's one way to get your message out. The Mark Hotel in New York has created a collection of cute, cosy cashmere sweaters emblazoned with 'Wish You Were Here', designed by Lingua Franca's Rachelle Hruska MacPherson, whose sweaters come with phrases like 'I miss Barack' or 'Resist'. You might be kind and send it to your best friend but we're sure you'd rather keep it. $380. themarkhotel.com
